NOTICE.

We have not the time nor the inclination, to dun personally, a large number of persons who have unsettled accounts upon our books of several years standing. We shall, therefore, from day to day, without respect to persons, place into the hands of a Justice for collection, all accounts of over two years standing. All those who wish to save expense, will do well to give us a call immediately.

THE NEWS.

—The Senate on Tuesday, confirmed Generals M'Clernand, Buell, Burnside, M'Dowell, C. F. Smith, Lewis, Wallace and Seigel, as major generals, and the following brigadier generals: Speed, of Tennessee; Colonel John Cochrane, of New York; Col. Logan, of Illinois; Col. M'Arthur, Ohio; Col. Lamman, Iowa; Col. Wallace, Ind.; Colonel McCook, Ohio; Col. Berns, Maine, and Col. Ferry, of Connecticut.

—The Senate Committee on Military Affairs, at their meeting on Tuesday morning, decided to report the following House bill, providing that hereafter the following shall be promulgated as an additional article of war, for the government of the army of the United States, and shall be obeyed and observed as such:

ARTICLE.—All officers or persons in the military or naval service of the United States, are prohibited from employing any of the forces under their respective commands, for the purpose of returning fugitives from service or labor, who may have escaped from any persons to whom such service or labor is claimed to be due, and any officer who shall be found guilty by court-martial, of violating this article, shall be dismissed from the service.

Section two provides that this act shall take effect from and after its passage.

—Hon. Andrew Johnson has formally been appointed Military Governor of Tennessee, with all the powers, duties, and functions pertaining to that office, during the pleasure of the President, or until the loyal inhabitants of that State shall organize a civil Government in accordance with the Constitution of the United States. In order to the exercise of those duties, it became necessary to first give him a military position, and hence the President nominated him a brigadier general. This appointment the Senate, on Tuesday, unhesitatingly confirmed.

The present Government of Tennessee being a usurpation, every proper encouragement will, through the Military Government, be given to the loyal people to assume its control. The designation of Andrew Johnson for that position is considered by everybody as eminently proper, both in view of his peculiar fitness for the office and of his great popularity among all the loyal people, besides his devotion to his own State. The Governor, by the acceptance of the office, necessarily vacates his position as a Senator. The term for which he was elected will not expire till March next.

—The importance of the movement in the Department of the West, which we announce to-day cannot be over estimated, and will every where be hailed with the liveliest feelings of gratification and pride. Columbus—well styled the Gibraltar of the Mississippi—has been occupied by the Union troops. All its terrible defences and formidable batteries have gone for naught, like the valor that erected them. To show the immense strategic value of the fort, we make the following extract from an editorial of the New Orleans Delta of January 30—before Forts Henry and Donelson had fallen into our possession:

"Our dependence, at present, for the safety of this city from the approach of a formidable expedition down the river is upon Columbus. That is the northern key to the Mississippi delta. That in possession of the enemy, the flood gates of invasion will be opened, and we would be confronted with terrible dangers and the whole country exposed to fearful evils. On one condition only can we realize a full assurance that such dangers will not occur, and such evils will never impend. That condition is the impregnability of General Polk's position at Columbus. But, it may be asked, is not that position already strong? Strong it undoubtedly has been, as the enemy's gunboats that encountered its batteries found out, and as his army at Belmont bitterly discovered. Strong it still is, in point of its defensive works, in the resolution of its defenders, and the vigilance, prudence, ability, and energy of its commanding general. But in war strength is relative."

—A Federal reconnoissance to Columbus, on Monday, revealed the fact that the town had been evacuated by the rebels and reduced to ashes. The rebels have retreated to Fort Randolph, a post on the Mississippi above Memphis, which cannot be made tenable by any military skill.

—Island No. 10, which, according to accounts published yesterday, was to be made a stronghold by the rebels who have evacuated Columbus, is one of the numerous small islands in the Mississippi, the numbering of which begins a short distance below Cairo.—It is just over the Kentucky line, nearly opposite the village of Obionville, at which heavy works were thrown up by negro laborers last autumn. The rebels expect, by holding the island, to block up the passage-way of our iron-clad gunboats down the river; while they will doubtless send the bulk of the Columbus forces to Memphis, to defend that city against a land assault. There is no island in the river could be so fortified as to be defensible for a single day against the combined iron-clad gunboats and mortar flotilla, unless by regular stone fortifications.—Any one of them could be literally paved with shot and shell, from boats beyond the reach of earthwork batteries.

—Although there is a veil of secrecy thrown for the present over some of the forward movements of our armies, and although it is possible that some of the great enterprises projected may not prove fully successful, of the general efficiency of our army there is no doubt. Never was it in such admirable condition. Elated with recent triumphs, and rendered familiar by experience with the system of warfare adopted by the enemy, the divisions that have tasted the glories of triumph, pant for new distinctions, and those who did not participate in the engagements that have occurred, burn for an opportunity to show that they are as fearless and devoted as their brave brethren-in-arms, who have proved their valor in desperate encounters.—Opportunities are not wanting. Fields for the display of their heroism are opening on every side. And whether we look to the camp formed at Ship Island, to the forces at Fort Pickens, Key West, Hilton Head, on the Burnside Expedition, at Fortress Monroe, in Tennessee, in Missouri, in Arkansas, or on the Potomac, we know enough of their movements to perceive that every muscle of the great boa-constrictor, that is now crushing the rebellion, is in motion, and that every fold is being tightened for the mighty death-grip that is to crush out forever the life of the heresy of Secession.

—John Minor Botts, Mr. Stearns and Mr. Wardwell, friends of our prisoners, together with many others, have been arrested in Richmond and thrown into jail on the charge of being Union men.

—Charles J. Faulkner says the report about his Union speech is almost a ridiculous fabrication. He is an avowed rebel.

—The Southern papers call upon planters and merchants to destroy their cotton and tobacco.

—Gen. Beauregard is at Memphis, trying to reorganize the Southern forces for a stand-up pitched battle.

—Martial Law has been proclaimed in Richmond and Norfolk, by Jeff Davis, and the distillation of intoxicating liquors and Union sentiments is positively prohibited.

DANGEROUS COUNTERFEIT.—An issue of altered two dollar notes on the Columbia Bank, Pa., is now being circulated in this county. Vig.:—Eagle on shield, locomotive, car and bridge in distance; Washington on left, female and child on right.

OUR CORRESPONDENCE.

MANOR HILL, March 1, 1862.

FRIEND LEWIS:—Having promised to notify you if anything new or strange should happen in our part of the country, you will please pardon my neglect, and accept this communication as a part of my promise. My neglect was not from want of respect, nor from want of material to manufacture news, nor for want of time, as have plenty, but simply because I feel my incapability to write intelligently anything that might interest your numerous readers. Yet, patriotism demands that every man should define his position, either for or against his country. We had hoped that the spirit of our Revolutionary fathers had again risen amongst us, but I am sorry to say I have been deceived, as we have seen the serpent-head of Treason rise among us and display his poisonous fangs, bidding defiance to patriotism or honor, instead of the white-winged messenger of peace. How easily we may be deceived in times like the present, when we are looking for and grasping at everything that might betoken the restoration of our once glorious but now distracted Union. Yet, we now have reason to hope, from the news of the past two weeks, that we will not have long to wait to realize our fondest hopes, and that high handed treason, with its duped victims, will be speedily brought to justice.

Again we have passed the anniversary of the Father of our Country, and again have we been admonished to look well to his bequests. Although our neighborhood was backward in making any demonstration to celebrate the day, we felt that it was not our duty to let it pass without notice, consequently, our Society met according to previous announcement, and after an able and elegant address by Prof. Stephens, on "The Duty of Every American Citizen," the "Farewell Address" of Washington was read by the same, and was enthusiastically received by the audience, each one feeling that we are now receiving in fact, what the Father of his Country so truly foretold and dreaded. Yet how few among us properly appreciate the sentiments of that immortal document. Well would it have been for the Southern fire-eaters had they heeded his injunctions. Few of our fathers, when leaving this world, warn their children with such depth of feeling, or so much anxiety for their future welfare. It indeed would be well if the youth of America would ponder over the pages of that immortal document, and learn from it their imperative duty. You will pardon me for digressing from my subject, as indeed I felt carried away with love of country and true patriotism, that all else seemed to sink into insignificance, yet I will try to note some of the passing events as I think of them. Times here are tightening down upon us as well as the ice, and clods are tightening upon the grain, and we fear the frosts of winter may confiscate our crop as well as the times our change, yet we will not frown at the dispensations of a gracious Providence, yet the chilling blasts of winter have to be met by many more unfortunate creatures than we. Only last Sabbath a week ago, a fire broke out in what is called "The Temple," at McAlevy's Fort, and burnt it to ashes. Fortunately, none of the inmates were burned. The most deplorable feature in the case was, that one of the families residing in it was that of one of our gallant soldiers. I hear that they are being taken care of and well provided for by the patriotic citizens of the Fort. Speaking of soldiers, brings to mind that our society has held two Grand Musical Concerts in the Presbyterian Church at Manor Hill, for the purpose of raising funds to send contributions to our unfortunate soldiers. Our efforts were crowned with success, and we are now prepared to ship all contributions, and pay freight to all parts of the United States, if need be. Our musicians and vocalists acquitted themselves admirably, and merit mitch praise for their untiring efforts to please the audience, as well as to contribute their talents for the welfare of their unfortunate brothers. They have won for themselves the love and esteem of all patriotic and charitable people, notwithstanding the efforts of the Southdowns to the contrary. Our concerts were even more than we expected. As I am no politician, I am not able to give you any political news, but think when the election comes on, we may all turn up on the right side.

Winter brings with it its pains and aches, and many old and esteemed of our fellow-citizens are carried to the tomb, among which I notice two of our oldest citizens, Mrs. Fagan and Mr. James Porter, aged, I believe, 89 and 82 years, respectively. Many of our young folks are also gone. Fearing I might weary you, I close, promising, if my news meets your approbation, I may write again, and subscribe myself,

Yours, PADUCAH.

Our Army Correspondence.

Col. W. D. LEWIS' 110th Reg't,
CAMP TYLOR, near Paw Paw, Va.,
February 26, 1862.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Our Regiment is now encamped about two miles from Paw Paw Tunnel, on the Winchester road. The location is as good as it could be expected at this season of the year. How long we will remain here I am unable to say. The roads are in an impassable condition, and it is utterly impossible for the artillery to advance, otherwise we should probably ere this, been upon Winchester, which lies some 35 miles in advance. On the 22d we had a grand review of the brigade, by General Lander, Tylor and staff. Our Brigade is the third in Gen. Lander's division, commanded by Col. Tylor of the Seventh Ohio, now acting Brigadier General. Our Regiment commanded by Col. W. D. Lewis, and our company by Lieuts. W. H. Kochersperger and George Wagner, are as fine a set of officers as ever entered the field. The Brigade is composed of the following regiments: 110th Penna., 7th and 9th Ohio, 7th Indiana, and the 1st Virginia, besides a troop of cavalry and a park of artillery. We passed a first rate review and were highly complimented by the Generals in command.

Our Regiment has, under the immediate supervision of Col. Lewis (who is ardently liked by the boys) and the never-tiring activity of its officers, become almost perfect in the drill of the Manual of Arms and field evolutions, and are burning with an eager desire for some sharp conflict, where their metal can be tested, and where, under God, they will do their whole duty and perform some service for their beloved country. Nor will they be long waiting an opportunity, for Gen. Lander, in his address on the 22d. has promised to lead us on soon to a battle worthy of our metal, and also solemnly promised that we should be in the advance and open the ball, and the enemy shall pay for the music. We hold him to his promise, and as he is as truthful as he is brave and daring, we anxiously and hopefully bide our time; but rest assured when led on, we go to certain victory, perhaps death, but never defeat.

Our boys remember Huntingdon, with a tear in their eye and a blessing on their lips. Wherever they go, no praise can be too high, no enconiums too loud, to measure their estimation of the tried worth and kindness of its fair inhabitants. Many will carry with them the recollection of the happiness experienced, and the pleasure enjoyed, while acting as its Guard, to the latest period of life's brief existence. The sick at the Hospital, their former Steward, Dr. Woodruff, truly asserts, have never met with such kind friends, nor have the well been permitted to enjoy more agreeable society.

So far as the weather will permit we are enjoying camp life pleasantly. All seem blessed in the knowledge that we are a check upon the enemy so as to engage them soon.

Lieut. Col. Crowther, Major Johnson, and Adjutant Spillman, by their urbanity, their thorough knowledge of their duties, and their readiness and cheerfulness in attending to the wants of the men, have gained their high esteem and grateful affection.

Between company and battalion drill, guard and picket duty, we have but little leisure time; that time we improve I assure you. Just, for instance, take a moonlight walk with me around our encampment. Here we are before a tent where music seems to be the order of the night. This is where Sergeant Steward hangs up his hat; listen and you will hear his clear and musical voice, accompanied by the violin, pouring melodiously forth the words of the "Girl I left behind me." Poor fellow! we feel that he too has left his heart in Huntingdon. A noble soldier and a better companion cannot be found. But we will leave him to the future, well knowing he will make his mark; then pass we on; see yonder tent where that group lay cozily by the fire; they are passing away time in the innocent amusement of card playing; wait another moment and the beat of the drum will call one-half of them out upon guard duty.

Captain Snyder is officer of the day, and Lieut. Cunningham, officer of the guards; they are men beloved by all.

In yonder marquee sits Lieutenants Kochersperger and Wagner—the one hurriedly writing, the other apparently deeply meditating—the one perhaps writing home, while the other is bringing vividly to memory the scenes of other times. And Dorsey—our Dorsey—well, there, to see and hear him in his eloquent eulogues in yonder marquee would cause your sides to burst with merriment. From yonder tent the words of "Dixey's Land" comes sweeping on the air; in the adjacent one, the inmates are practicing the Manual of Arms, and so all round. All are engaged, some in deep study, some poring over letters from friends, some writing, singing, and but few sleeping, only those fatigued by arduous duty. Most are as merry as the church going bell; no thoughts of a deadly conflict disturbs them. But let the long roll beat and see how soon the men will drop their amusements, grasp their arms and form into line, ready for a battle or a march. "Ever willing, ever ready," must be the motto of the soldier of the 110th.

ONE OF THE OLD GUARD.

Soldiers' Aid.

The Soldiers' Aid of Huntingdon, have forwarded four boxes this week. Two to Chicago, in charge of the Sanitary Commission to send at their discretion, either to Cairo or Paducah, wherever most needed, to minister to the wants of our brave fellows, who were in the attacks at Forts Henry and Donelson, now in Western hospitals. Two boxes were sent to Cumberland, Maryland, for the sick there, and to Paw Paw Tunnel, Va. The women of McConnellstown contributed a box for each place, and those of Huntingdon divided their contributions in the same way. The Pennsylvania Central Road sending all free and as rapidly as possible. Several western Roads also send packages free.

The following railroads centering in Chicago, have consented to transport free of expense all packages marked and receipted for, according to the directions. All articles should be packed in wooden boxes or strong bales; under the corner or top of the box, a full list of contents should be placed, and a copy of this list sent with railroad receipt. On the box place the direction from where it comes. From ——— To Chicago Sanitary Commission, No. 41 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

The following roads carry free:—Chicago, Burlington & Quincy; Galena & Chicago; Union, Chicago & Rock Island; Chicago & Milwaukie; Chicago & Northwestern; St. Louis, Alton & Chicago; Illinois Central; Michigan Central; Michigan Southern; Pittsb'g & Fort Wayne; Cincinnati Air Line. Letters addressed to E. W. Blatchford, Corresponding Secretary of Chicago Sanitary Commission, 41 Wabash Avenue, Chicago. Contents of boxes from this place, very similar to those sent from McConnellstown. The contributions here have been liberal. The society will continue to work and send boxes filled with bed clothes, jellies, concentrated chickens, etc. At least fifty chickens have been canned by our McConnellstown friends. We cannot fail to realize our freedom from the depredations and sufferings of other sections of our country, and try to exert every nerve to soothe the pains of our brave defenders, and ever make sacrifices for those from our abundance.

CHICAGO, March 1, 1862.

Ladies—Your box was gratefully received and the goods immediately distributed to meet the wants of our wounded at Mound City and Paducah. Yesterday I visited the 5000 prisoners at Camp Douglas, found them in good quarters and well cared for, expressing gratitude for books and moral christian interest. Pray for them.

Yours sincerely,
E. W. BLATCHFORD,
Cor. Sec. Chicago San. Com.

CAMP GRIFFIN, VA.

We pray that God will bless and reward you abundantly.

Yours, very truly,
WM. EARNSHAW,

Gunboat Engagement with a Rebel Battery.—The Battery Silenced and the Rebels Driven from their Guns.—Three Rebel Regiments Repulsed with Slaughter.—Election in Harding County, Tennessee, a Union Victory.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The following despatch was received at the Navy department to-night:

HON. GIDEON WELLES:—Cairo, March 3, 1862, Lieutenant commanding Shirkhas, this moment, arrived from the Tennessee river, and brings full despatches from Lieutenant commanding Gwin, of the gunboat Tyler, a synopsis of which is, that the gunboats proceeded up to Pittsburg, near the Mississippi line, where a rebel battery was opened upon them, consisting of six guns, one of them being rifled, which were soon silenced by the gunboats.

Ninety mounted men landed under cover of the gunboats, and charged upon the enemy, driving them some distance, until they were strongly reinforced, when our party withdrew to the boats. Then three rebel regiments opened upon the gunboats, but were repulsed with great slaughter.

The casualties on our side amounted to five killed and missing and five wounded. Lieutenants Commanding Gwin and Shirk, with their commands, have behaved with great gallantry and judgment.

An election for town officers has just taken place in Harding county, Tenn., which resulted in two hundred votes for the Union and thirteen for secession.

(Signed)
A. H. FOOTE, Flag Officer.

FROM GEN. BANKS' COMMAND.

CHARLESTOWN, Va., via. Washington, March 3.—From 600 to 1,000 barrels of flour, belonging to the rebels, have been seized and stored here.

A woolen mill, owned by Davis, which has been manufacturing clothing, was also seized, with a considerable stock of goods.

Richard Washington, a brother of the late John A. Washington, is now confined at Harper's Ferry.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT INTELLIGENCE.

Occupation of Columbus, Ky., by United States Troops.—Official Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Secretary Welles, this evening, received the following dispatch:

COLUMBUS, Ky., March 4, 1862.

SIR: Columbus is in our possession. My armed reconnoissance on the 2d instant caused a hasty evacuation, the rebels leaving quite a number of guns and carriages, ammunition and stores, a large quantity of shot and shell, a considerable number of anchors, and the remnant of the chain lately stretched across the river, together with a large number of torpedoes.

Most of the huts, tents and quarters were destroyed.

The works are of very great strength, consisting of formidable tiers of batteries on the water side, and on the land side surrounded by a ditch and abattis.

General Sherman, with Lieutenant Commanding Phelps, not knowing that they were last evening occupied by four hundred of the 2d Illinois Cavalry, while on a scouting party from Paducah, made a bold dash to the shore, when those in the batteries hoisted the American flag on the summit of the bluff. Its appearance was greeted by the hearty cheers of our brave tars and soldiers.

FROM MISSOURI.

A Company of Union Troops Dispersed by 800 Rebels.—Capture of two Waggons and Army Stores by the Rebels.—The Rebel Army of Arkansas.—Destruction of Property by Gen. Price.—Strong Union Feeling Among the People.—An Old Soldier of 1812 Displays the Stars and Stripes.

SPRINGFIELD, March 4.—[Special dispatch to the St. Louis Republican.]

On Wednesday night, Captain Montgomery, of Wright's battalion, with his company, was surprised at Kittsville, Barry county, by 800 rebels, supposed to belong to M'Bride's division, but who represented themselves as Texan Rangers. They fired into a house occupied by our men, killing two and wounding one. One of the rebels was killed, the balance taking with them about seventy horses. Two waggons loaded with army stores were burned. The same night at Major Harbin's farm two miles beyond Kiettsville, Cols. Ellis and Wright with an adequate cavalry force were sent to Kiettsville. Price had burned several public buildings, at Fayetteville, including the Fayetteville Arsenal, lead factory, and several flouring mills, and 100,000 barrels of flour. Many inhabitants along the road say, they had been deceived by the lies of Price, who said that they would all be butchered by the United States troops. A strong Union feeling is exhibited among those remaining. An old soldier of 1812, brought out a Union flag that he had long kept concealed.

They fear that the combined forces of Price, Van Dorn, McCulloch, McIntosh and Pike will again over run the country and keep thousands from avowing their sentiments. Price after the hot chase is cooling off on the Boston mountains, and Ben McCulloch is on this side of him.

FROM PORT ROYAL, S. C.

Arrival of 320 Bales of Cotton.—30,000 Rebel Troops Reported at Savannah.

NEW YORK, March 5.—The steamer has arrived from Port Royal with dates to the 1st inst., and 320 bales of cotton and 140 passengers.

The steamer Cosmopolitan had arrived, with a Connecticut regiment.

A passenger from Savannah reports 30,000 rebel troops there. There is other news, but being of the character interdicted by the Government, it is not to be used for publication.

FROM RICHMOND.

The Pirate Nashville.—How She Ran the Blockade.—Union Feeling at Richmond.—"The Handwriting on the Wall."—Great Panic amongst the Citizens.

BALTIMORE, March 5.—A letter from Fortress Monroe to the American, says that the Richmond Dispatch of yesterday announces that the rebel steamer Nashville came direct from Southampton to the North Carolina coast, and approached the blockading vessel with the Union flag flying, coming up directly under her guns, within hailing distance and passing her raised the rebel flag and moved direct towards Fort Madison. The blockader immediately discovered the deception, and started in pursuit, following her until within range of the guns of Fort Mason. Several shots were fired at the Nashville, but she reports nobody hurt, and claims to have brought into Wilmington a valuable cargo of bank note and printing paper.

The Richmond Dispatch calls attention to the mysterious writings on the walls of the city, indicating that Union conspirators are at work in their midst, such as "Attention Union Men," "Watch and Wait," "The Union Forever," "The Day is Dawning," "The Hour of Deliverance Approaches," &c. It was these significant announcements that caused the arrest of Botts and twenty other suspected citizens of wealth, character and position, and the proclamation of martial law. The Dispatch urges summary measures for checking the progress of treason, and advocates the arrest and execution of the conspirators. It was thought that Cols. Corcoran and Coggswell would now be held as hostages for Buckner and Tilghman, but this was merely a rumor. They had all reached Richmond. There was a great panic at Richmond, caused by the recent defeats, and the leading traitors exhibited the greatest trepidation.

FROM NASHVILLE.

CINCINNATI, March 5.—Forty-nine rebel officers were sent to Fort Warren from Columbus, yesterday.

The Gazette's Nashville dispatch gives the following items:

The Major earnestly calls upon the people of the surrounding country, who are inside of the Federal lines, to resume their commerce with the city, and bring in their market supplies, especially wood, butter and eggs, assuring them that they will be fully protected and amply remunerated.

The city is entirely quiet. Even the bitterest secessionists acknowledge our military authorities treating them cruelly kind. All admit a vast superiority in arms, equipments and appearance of our troops, and say that, so far, there has been the most admirable discipline displayed.

They admit also that the Hessians have not committed a single outrage, while the conduct of their own troops was outrageous. The Union men begin to make their appearance. They say a majority will yet be found on our side, but it will take some time to develope the feeling that has been so thoroughly crushed.

A postal agent is here from Washington. He will open the post office to-morrow. He has already had forty citizens applying for clerkships in it.

THE TRIBUNE ALMANAC for 1862, for sale at Lewis' Book Store.

DIED,

At his residence in Broad Top City, on Feb. 23, 1862, BENJAMIN L. MEGAHEN, aged 42 years, 10 months, and 28 days.

And is it so? Art thou gone to the grave?
Hath death sunk beneath life's ocean wave,
That image fair, that graceful manly form,
And still'd the throbbings of a heart so warm?

Art thou o'ershadowed by the death angel's wings?
In earth's cold, dump bosom gently sleeping,
Hath joy's pure sunbeams left thy smiling face;
And art thou in thy long, lone resting place?

Alas! 'tis so! Thou'rt in the "spirit land" resting;
Thou'rt sleeping the sleep that knows no waking;
And on that brow illum'd by intellect,
Death, his unwelcome seal hath darkly set.

Thy griefs and woes have gone like dreams away;
Thou art resting in blest, undying day:
Eternity beams on thy waking soul—
Endless, sun-like years of bliss before thee roll.

Thus o'er deep waters passeth man away;
His home is not in mansions of decay—
Not in the silent chambers of the grave;
But in Heaven, through Him who died to save.

We mourn that thou hast left us, friend, so soon;
But we trust thou art blooming beyond the tomb,
Where chosen flowers, the fairest and the best,
Are culled, and gathered to the Saviour's breast.

Then sleep on, departed, thy sleep "is death"—
Tranquil be thy resting place—"'tis the grave"—
And hope shall tell us, that again we'll meet
There, in that brighter world, at Jesus' feet.

The reason why the Merrimac did not first attack the Congress, was because Captain Buchanan had a brother on board as Paymaster.

ANCIENT JERUSALEM,

A LARGE AND BEAUTIFUL

ISOMETRICAL PICTURE

JERUSALEM

And the Sacred Places Surrounding the HOLY CITY,

AS THEY APPEARED IN ANCIENT TIMES.

The above work is commended to the favorable notice of clergymen, and those having charge of Sunday-schools, Bible-classes, and public institutions.

It is about 9 feet long and 6 feet wide, colored and varnished, and mounted on canvas with rollers.

It has been constructed from the most reliable and authentic sources, and will be found an invaluable aid to those engaged in lecturing on the Holy Land, or in imparting instruction to school classes on the subject to which it refers.

It aims to give an exact idea of the city as it appeared in ancient times. It is taken as a "bird's eye" or "balloon" view, the beholder being, in imagination, placed at a considerable elevation, so as to take a comprehensive view of the city and the whole country for some distance around.

The view is accompanied with an Outline Key, in which the different localities are numbered, and a Descriptive Manual containing all the information necessary to enable no one to use the view to advantage in teaching or lecturing.

THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL TIMES.

This is a Weekly Religious Paper, published at the very low price of ONE DOLLAR A YEAR. It is designed for Parents, Teachers, and all who are engaged or interested in the religious training of the young. It is also an excellent Family Paper.

A portion of the Sunday-School Times is occupied with Narratives and other matter particularly interesting to young persons. Teachers will find in it much that they will like to read to their classes—interesting matter prepared to their hands, and such as they cannot find elsewhere. For the same reasons, members of Bible-classes, and the older scholars generally, will be greatly benefited by the perusal of this paper.

The Sunday-School Times has every week a report of the choicest matter, selected from the Noon Prayer Meetings, which are so interesting to all classes of Christians.

Besides a large amount of general religious intelligence, the Sunday-School Times contains all the most recent Sunday-school news. It reports all the important Conventions of Sunday-school teachers. It discusses the questions which most interest and perplex teachers and parents, respecting the various methods of Religious Training for the young, the means of gaining the attention and affections of children and especially of securing their conversion and bringing them to Christ. The subject of Mission-Schools for cities and of Sunday-school missionary work for the interior, is thoroughly canvassed. Indeed, there is hardly a topic of practical importance to any who are interested in the subject of religious education, which is not here brought under consideration from week to week.

The conductors of this paper endeavor to remember that the great end of all Christian effort is to bring men to Christ. They aim accordingly, to put into every number of the paper something which shall have for its direct object the conversion of souls.
